Cava did well but I still think its pricing is too high especially at what it moved to after hours tonight. I expect a significant pull back into the high 90s.

I'm sure everyone will argue that, and that's fine they can but I think there's a pull back Coming. It's hot hot hot right now though .

I think its earnings were great and I think it's a solid company. Just a little over valued at current pricing.
